TO: RCEA Members

FROM: Cathie Fraser, President

Election of RCEA Representatives

The RCEA is your union. We represent over 1,600 NRC employees in six different bargaining units. We strive to provide the best negotiation, information and representation possible. But we can't do it alone. The RCEA relies on representatives (otherwise known as stewards) to act as the main point of contact between members and the union. These representatives share information, answer questions and act as a go-between between members and the RCEA office. Representatives are members of the RCEA Executive Committee, the main governing body of the union. The Executive Committee meets up to nine times each year; these meetings are held after working hours at 5:00 p.m. EST at the RCEA office in the Stone House.

Currently there is no representative at your location. It is very important that there be a sufficient number of representatives, as this helps to ensure that members are informed. We are looking for new, interested volunteers. If you are not sure, but would like more information, please contact the RCEA office at 613-746-9341 or office@rcea.ca. However, if you wish to volunteer, please complete the nomination form below and return it to the RCEA office, Stone House, Building M-1B, via NRC internal mail by November 19, 2014.

The more members that participate, the stronger the RCEA will be! Please consider becoming a representative.

Please note that ONE nomination form per nominee is sufficient.
